Heather D Cruz, School of Health and Social Development, Deakin University, Australia. As a third year social work student, I found this book a good consolidation of what I have been learning this semester in my research and evaluation module. It has helped me with my end of module assignment to demonstrate my understanding of social work research through a detailed literature search. I found the practical examples of actual pieces of research particularly useful in getting an idea of how particular methods are used. I have found this book very useful as it has helped clarify the meaning of the research terminology and given me a good understanding of the overall process.

Sally Biskin, Social Work Student, Bangor University, UK. This accessible book is based on the author's extensive practical experience of carrying out and teaching research in the social work field. Social work research is shown to be both a distinctive academic enterprise and a task that can be accomplished effectively in line with the values and ethical principles that lie at the discipline's core.

Doing Social Work Research helps intending researchers to relate methodology to method so that they can make authoritative decisions about how to turn initial research questions into valid and feasible investigative strategies. In doing so, it introduces and evaluates a wide range of approaches across the spectrum of social work research. Building on this, the book provides detailed guidance on how to organize the research task, paying close attention to the practicalities of planning, preparation, implementation, and management of investigations.

Doing Social Work Research features a comprehensive overview of social work research methods. Detailed guidance on how to carry out research in social work. Illustrative examples of research practice from personal experience. Effective links between core social work values, purposes, methodologies, and research practices. This book is a valuable resource for social work students and practitioners carrying out research projects, as well as practicing researchers and research educators in the discipline.
