The Community:

The Community Development Quota Program in Alaska National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Polar Research Board, Ocean Studies Board, Commission on Geosciences, Environment and Resources, Committee to Review the Community Development Quota Program, 1999-06-03 This book reviews the performance and effectiveness of the Community Development Quotas CDQ programs that were formed as a result of the Sustainable Fisheries Act of 1996 The CDQ program is a method of allocating access to fisheries to eligible communities with the intent of promoting local social and economic conditions through participation in fishing related activities The book looks at those Alaskan fisheries that have experience with CDQs such as halibut pollock sablefish and crab and comments on the extent to which the programs have met their objectives helping communities develop ongoing commercial fishing and processing activities creating employment opportunities and providing capital for investment in fishing processing and support projects such as infrastructure It also considers how CDQ type programs might apply in the Western Pacific

The Temple and the Community in Qumran and the New Testament Bertil Gärtner, 2005-10-06 This is the first of a series of monograph supplements to the journal New Testament Studies The main purpose of the series is to make possible publication of work which is too long for inclusion in the journal The monographs will be published in either English French or German the present one is in English Dr Gärtners purpose is to follow in detail the parallels between the New Testament and Qumran writings in their concept of the community Christian or Essene as a spiritual temple The whole complex of relationships between Qumran and the early Church is studied with the purpose of extending our knowledge of the Jewish background of the New Testament Dr Gärtners conclusions lend strong support to the view that it is from this Qumran type of Judaism that the Christian Church arose

Promoting Health at the Community Level Doug Easterling, Kaia Gallagher, Dora Lodwick, 2003-05-28 Promoting Health at the Community Level speaks directly to the challenges that foundations and funding agencies face in supporting the work of community based groups The seven case studies included in the book correspond to different multi site initiatives funded by The Colorado Trust a Denver based health foundation Each case study describes the initiative approach the type of health promotion activities developed by community based grantees the various resources and guidelines provided by the foundation the initial outcomes of the initiative and lessons learned In addition the final chapter pulls together the findings from the seven case studies into a summary set of recommendations for grantmakers addressing issues such as the level and duration of funding different approaches to technical assistance networking among grantees and the development of healthy funder grantee relationships This book is the first book to provide a systematic examination of community based health promotion Edited by Doug Easterling Kaia Gallagher and Dora Lodwick this innovative text uses seven case studies to evaluate community driven health promotion and present promising strategies for initiating and sustaining community based efforts Individual chapters describe real world multi site health initiatives and summarize their evaluation outcomes

Presenting different funding scenarios within varying community settings the case studies cover a wide range of topics including School health education Teen pregnancy prevention Volunteer service for rural seniors Violence prevention Home visitation services Promoting Health at the Community Level illustrates a number of different strategies for strengthening the capacity of community based organizations to develop and implement health promotion programs The editors provide knowledge based approaches to encouraging local leaders nurturing appropriate networks and creating health promotion programs suited to unique community contexts Offering unique lessons for community based coalitions and supportive organizations this book will also inspire academics and students to further explore this innovative approach to health promotion and disease prevention
