Writers Of Memory:

The Writer's Book of Memory Janine Rider, 2013-11-05 Memory has long been ignored by rhetoricians because the written word has made memorization virtually obsolete Recently however as part of a revival of interest in classical rhetoric scholars have begun to realize that memory offers vast possibilities for today's writers Synthesizing research from rhetoric psychology philosophy and literary and composition studies this volume brings together many historical and contemporary theories of memory Yet its focus is clear memory is a generator of knowledge and a creative force which deserves attention at the beginning of and throughout the writing process This volume emphasizes the importance of recognizing memory's powers in an age in which mass media influence us all and electronic communication changes the way we think and write It also addresses the importance of the individual memory and voice in an age which promotes conformity Written in a strong lively personal manner the book covers a great deal of scholarly material It is never overbearing and the extensive bibliography offers rich vistas for further study

Rituals of Memory in Contemporary Arab Women's Writing Brinda Mehta, 2007-04-26 This volume carefully assesses fixed notions of Arab womanhood by exploring the complexities of Arab women's lives as portrayed in literature Encompassing women writers and critics from Arab French and English traditions it forges a transnational Arab feminist consciousness Brinda Mehta examines the significance of memory rituals in women's writings such as the importance of water and purification rites in Islam and how these play out in the women's space of the hammam Turkish bath Mehta shows how sensory experiences connect Arab women to their past Specific chapters raise awareness of the experiences of Palestinian women in exile and under occupation Bedouin and desert rituals and women's views on conflict in Iraq and Lebanon and the compatibility between Islam and feminism At once provocative and enlightening this work is a groundbreaking addition to the timely field of modern Arab women's writing and criticism and Arab literary studies

Memory and Writing from Wordsworth to Lawrence Philip Davis, 1983-03-01 In this book Davis examines the relation of imagination and the creation of art to the experience of life both individual and social which provides the source and subject of so much nineteenth century literature

Dear Memory Victoria Chang, 2026-03-17 Groundbreaking Chang's lyrical experiment memorably evokes an individual family's time capsule and an artist's timeless yearning to shape carbon dust into incandescent gem NPR Now in paperback from the poet who resurrects mediums The Millions a collection of literary letters and mementos on the art of remembering across generations For poet Victoria Chang memory isn't something that blooms but something that bleeds internally It is willed summoned and dragged to the surface The remembrances in this collection of letters are founded in the fragments of stories her mother shared reluctantly and the silences of her father who first would not and then could not share more They are whittled and sculpted from an archive of family relics a marriage license a letter a visa petition a photograph And just as often they are built on the questions that can no longer be answered Dear Memory is not a transcription but a process of shaping and being shaped knowing that when a writer dips their pen into history what emerges is poetry In carefully crafted missives on trauma and loss on being American and Chinese Victoria Chang shows how grief can ignite a longing to know yourself In letters to family past teachers and fellow poets as the imagination Dear Memory offers a model for what it looks like to find ourselves in our histories

Memory and Memorials Matthew J. B. Campbell, Jacqueline M. Labbe, Sally Shuttleworth, 2004 Focusing on the long nineteenth century from the French Revolution to the beginnings of Modernism this book examines the significance of memory in this era of turbulent social change Through investigation of science literature history and the visual arts the authors explore theories of memory and the cultural and literary resonances of memorializing Drawing on the work of many of the most influential literary figures of the period such as Tennyson Scott and Hardy Memory and Memorials explores key topics such as gender and memory Victorian psychological theories of memory and cultural constructions in literature science history and architecture Memory and Memorials From the French Revolution to World War One employs a range of new and influential interdisciplinary methodologies It offers both a fresh theoretical understanding of the period and a wealth of empirical material of use to the historian literary critic or social psychologist Matthew Campbell lectures in English literature at the University of Sheffield He is the author of Rhythm and Will in Victorian Poetry Jacqueline M Labbe is senior lecturer in English at Warwick University She is the author of The Romantic Paradox Love Violence and the Uses of Romance 1760 1830 Sally Shuttleworth is professor of modern literature at the University of Sheffield She is the author of Charlotte Bront and Victorian Psychology
