strain of war War writing has fewer traditional forms but exists at a similar extreme The eight chapters in this book written by leading and up and coming scholars in the field illuminate the creative innovations improvisations and implosions which happen when the demands of writing war and writing lives collide Central to all is the question of authenticity how can wars and lives be known and who can speak of them with authority This volume has a generous chronological and generic range beginning in the early 1800s and stretching to 21st century texts and covering letters diaries fiction fakeries poetry biography testimony songs objects and digital media The mix of authors is similarly varied Thomas Hardy W H Auden and Elizabeth Bowen rub shoulders with Yousif M Qasmiyeh a contemporary Palestinian poet Farah Baker a Gazan teenager and the writers behind the pen names Araki Yasusada and Jiri Kajan This book was originally published as a special issue of Textual Practice Thinking Poetry Peter Nicholls, Peter Boxall, 2016-03-16 This collection brings together some of the most prominent critics of contemporary poetry and some of the most significant poets working in the English language today to offer a critical assessment of the nature and function of poetic thought Working at once with questions of form literary theory and philosophy this volume gives an extraordinarily diverse original and mobile account of the kind of thinking that poetry can do The conviction that moves through the collection as a whole is that poetry is not an addition to thought nor a vehicle to express a given idea nor an ornamental language in which thinking might find itself couched Rather all the essays suggest that poetry itself thinks in ways that other forms of expression cannot thus making new intellectual political and cultural formulations possible This book was originally published as a special issue of Textual Practice The Poetics of Melancholy in Early Modern England Douglas Trevor, 2004-09-30 The Poetics of Melancholy in Early Modern England explores how attitudes toward and explanations of human emotions change in England during the late sixteenth and early seventeenth century Typically categorized as literary writers Edmund Spenser John Donne Robert Burton and John Milton were all active in the period s reappraisal of the single emotion that due to their efforts would become the passion most associated with the writing life melancholy By emphasising the shared concerns of the non literary and literary texts produced by these figures Douglas Trevor asserts that quintessentially scholarly practices such as glossing texts and appending sidenotes shape the methods by which these same writers come to analyse their own moods He also examines early modern medical texts dramaturgical representations of learned depressives such as Shakespeare s Hamlet and the opposition to materialistic accounts of the passions voiced by Neoplatonists such as Edmund Spenser Were Early Modern Lives Different? Andrew Hadfield, 2016-03-16 Should we assume that people who lived some time ago were quite similar to us or should we assume that they need to be thought of as alien beings with whom we have little in common This specially commissioned collection explores this important issue through an analysis of the lives and work of a number of significant early modern writers Shakespeare is analysed in a number of essays as authors ask whether we can learn anything about his life from reading the Sonnets and Hamlet Other essays explore the first substantial autobiography in English that of the musician and poet

Thomas Wythorne 1528 96 the representation of the self in Holbein s great painting The Ambassadors whether we have a window into men s and women s souls when we read their intimate personal correspondence and whether modern studies that wish to recapture the intentions and inner thoughts of early modern people who left writings behind are valuable aids to interpreting the past This book was originally published as a special issue of Textual Practice Infoglut Mark Andrejevic,2013-06-26 Today more mediated information is available to more people than at any other time in human history New and revitalized sense making strategies multiply in response to the challenges of cutting through the clutter of competing narratives and taming the avalanche of information Data miners sentiment analysts and decision markets offer to help bodies of data speak for themselves making sense of their own patterns so we don t have to Neuromarketers and body language experts promise to peer behind people s words to see what their brains are really thinking and feeling New forms of information processing promise to displace the need for expertise and even comprehension at least for those with access to the data Infoglut explores the connections between these wide ranging sense making strategies for an era of information overload and big data and the new forms of control they enable Andrejevic critiques the popular embrace of deconstructive debunkery calling into question the post truth post narrative and post comprehension politics it underwrites and tracing a way beyond them Serials in the British Library ,2006 Textual Practice Terence Hawkes,Jean Howard,2005-08-05 First published in 1994 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company How Abstract Is It? Thinking Capital Now Rebecca Colesworthy,Peter Nicholls,2017-10-02 Since the start of the financial crisis in 2008 the notion that capitalism has become too abstract for all but the most rarefied specialists to understand has been widely presupposed Yet even in academic circles the question of abstraction itself of what exactly abstraction is and does under financialisation seems to have gone largely unexplored or has it By putting the question of abstraction centre stage How Abstract Is It Thinking Capital Now offers an indispensable counterpoint to the economic turn in the humanities bringing together leading literary and cultural critics in order to propose that we may know far more about capital s myriad abstractions than we typically think we do Through in depth engagement with classic and cutting edge theorists agile analyses of recent Hollywood films groundbreaking readings of David Foster Wallace s sprawling unfinished novel The Pale King and even original poems the contributors here suggest that the machinations and costs of finance as well as alternatives to it may already be hiding in plain sight This book was originally published as a special issue of Textual Practice New Serial Titles ,1989 A union list of serials commencing publication after Dec 31 1949 Textual Practice Terence Hawkes,1992-04-23 Textual Practice contains some of the most path breaking adventurous critical writing currently to be found in Britain Terry Eagleton Linacre College Oxford Pretty Gentlemen Peter McNeil,2018-01-01 The term macaroni was once as familiar a label as punk or hipster is today In this handsomely illustrated book devoted to notable 18th century British male fashion award winning author and fashion historian Peter McNeil brings together dress biography and historical events with the
