The Effects of Occipitalization of the Atlas on Facial Skeletal Morphology Gaylord Don Noren,1983 In this study a series of measurements and relationships of the cranial base and facial skeleton from right lateral and posterior anterior cephalometric radiographs of each occipitalized and selected normal skulls is obtained This collection of data is subjected to statistical analyses comparing the group bearing the cranio vertebral anomaly with the group of selected normal skulls Correlation data between measurements within each group are computed to investigate cause and effect relationships

The thesis provides an exceptionally clear exposition on a complicated analysis performed by a large team of researchers. Aspects of the analysis performed by the author are explained in detail; these include new methods for evaluating uncertainties on the jet binning used in the analysis and for estimating the background due to associated production of a W boson and an off-shell photon. The thesis also describes a measurement of the WW cross section, an essential background to Higgs boson production. The primary motivation of the LHC was to prove or disprove the existence of the Higgs boson. In 2012, CERN announced this discovery, and the resultant ATLAS publication contained three decay channels: gg , ZZ , and WW .
