The Politics of Race in Britain and South Africa Elizabeth Williams, 2015-03-18 The postwar government of South Africa led by H F Verwoerd implemented wide ranging racial segregation laws beginning the open policy of apartheid in one of Africa's most prosperous and internationally influential states During the apartheid era the British government faced an uneasy dilemma while repudiating apartheid laws it maintained an ambiguous stance towards the South African government As black South African s were reduced to the status of non citizens after the 1970 Citizenship Act increasing numbers of exiles and fugitives were finding refuge in Britain which was now home to a growing anti apartheid protest movement This is the first book to examine the British support for the anti apartheid movement among its own black communities Elizabeth Williams highlights the connection between domestic anti racism struggles and the struggle in South Africa showing how black Britons who were themselves fighting racism in British society identified and expressed solidarity with black South Africans during the Apartheid years Williams further assesses the way in which Black communities in Britain viewed Margaret Thatcher s support of South Africa despite the international call for sanctions Featuring the work of acclaimed documentary photographer and civil rights activist Vanley Burke this will be an essential book for students and scholars of race British history international relations post colonial studies and South African history

The Cold War in the Classroom Barbara Christophe, Peter Gautschi, Robert Thorp, 2019-10-23 This book is open access under a CC BY 4 0 license This book explores how the socially disputed period of the Cold War is remembered in today s history classroom Applying a diverse set of methodological strategies the authors map the dividing lines in and between memory cultures across the globe paying special attention to the impact the crisis driven age of our present has on images of the past Authors analysing educational media point to ambivalence vagueness and contradictions in textbook narratives understood to be echoes of societal and academic controversies Others focus on teachers and the history classroom showing how unresolved political issues create tensions in history education They render visible how teachers struggle to handle these challenges by pretending that what they do is just history The contributions to this book unveil how teachers backgrounding the political inherent in all memory practices often nourish the illusion that the history in which they are engaged is all about addressing the past with a reflexive and disciplined approach
