Christianity and the Roman Games Richard F. DeVoe,2003-03-14 Christians to the lions The image of early Christian victims of pagan blood lust in the Roman arenas are as familiar as a catechism to Christians of all ages Dr Richard DeVoe parallels the development of these two great social forces of the Roman Empire Christianity the Roman games which included not only the arena but also the circus and the theatre He questions why Christianity did not have more effect on the Roman games as both institutions grew apace for four centuries He concludes contrary to traditional church history that Christianity did not limit but in fact absorbed and perpetuated the games Why With regard not only to the games but also education the military and the imperial cult Rome was not Christianized Christianity was paganized Christianity and the Roman Games traces this process of paganization from the first through the fifth centuries discovering surprising consequences both for Christianity and subsequent history

Cruelty and Civilization Roland Auguet,2012-11-12 Roland Auguet examines the Roman taste for blood and considers what the games that strange combination of Cruelty and Civilization reveal about the Roman mentality He shows how the great spectacles became a part of city life they were awaited with impatience everyone discussed them some applauded the action in the arena while others booed frantically This book provides an exciting history of gladiators chariot racing and other games as well as an investigation of their function and significance within society It is essential reading for anyone who is interested in the Romans violent form of entertainment

Gladiators and Games Rogan Fish, The origins of gladiatorial games can be traced back to the ancient Roman Republic although their roots extend even further back into earlier civilizations While the gladiatorial contests that are iconic today were popularized by the Romans the initial concept of such games was deeply influenced by traditions and customs from earlier societies especially the Etruscans In fact the Etruscans are often credited with introducing the practice of gladiatorial combat to the Roman world The earliest gladiatorial contests were likely held as part of funeral rites Roman aristocrats and leaders believed that these violent spectacles would honor the deceased and ensure their passage into the afterlife These games known as munera were originally private events organized by wealthy individuals to display their power and wealth while offering a form of public entertainment The idea was that the bloodshed and valor shown by the fighters would symbolize a tribute to the dead and possibly even appease the spirits of the departed The number of gladiators involved in these early contests was small and the fights were often staged in temporary arenas The practice gradually evolved from being a private funeral tradition into a state sponsored spectacle especially during the 3rd century BCE as the Republic expanded and began to look for ways to solidify its control over its vast territories The games became a tool of political propaganda used by ambitious politicians and generals to gain favor with the masses By the time of the Roman Empire these gladiatorial contests had grown to monumental proportions with arenas like the Colosseum hosting thousands of spectators

The Day Commodus Killed a Rhino Jerry Toner,2015-01-05 In ancient times the Roman games that heady cocktail of mass slaughter gladiatorial combat and chariot racing made strong political social and cultural statements The Roman emperor Commodus wanted to kill a rhinoceros with a bow and arrow and he wanted to do it in the Colosseum Commodus s passion for hunting animals was so fervent that he dreamt of shooting a tiger an elephant and a hippopotamus his prowess was such that people claimed he never missed when hurling his javelin or firing arrows from his bow For fourteen days near the end of AD 192 the emperor mounted one of the most lavish and spectacular gladiatorial games Rome had ever seen Commodus himself was the star attraction and people rushed from all over Italy to witness the spectacle But this slaughter was simply the warm up act to the main event the emperor was also planning to fight as a gladiator Why did Roman rulers spend vast resources on such over the top displays and why did some emperors appear in them as combatants Why did the Roman rabble enjoy watching the slaughter of animals and the sight of men fighting to the death And how best can we in the modern world understand what was truly at stake in the circus and the arena In The Day Commodus Killed a Rhino Jerry Toner set out to answer these questions by vividly describing what it would have been like to attend Commodus fantastic shows and watch one of his many appearances as both hunter and fighter Highlighting the massive logistical effort needed to supply the games with animals performers and criminals for execution the book reveals how blood and gore were actually incidental to what really mattered Gladiatorial games played a key role in establishing a forum for political debate between the rulers and the ruled Roman crowds were not passive they were made up of sophisticated consumers with their own political aims which they used the games to secure In addition the games also served as a pure expression of what it meant to be a true Roman Drawing on notions of personal honor manly vigor and sophisticated craftsmanship the games were a story that the Romans loved to tell themselves about themselves The Roman Games as the Survival of an Archaic Year-cult Hugh Nibley,1938 A
