The Exile:

The Exile's Papers: The duplicity of autobiography Wayne Clifford, 2007 The Exile's Papers Part One considers the implications of duplicity in autobiography as they appear in the first two hundred or so sonnets of a four volume sonnet cycle completed over the past twenty years by the Lost Poet of the 1960s confronted at the end of the middle game by anonymity on the one hand and by opportunity the mass of a black hole on the other in which Rilke in his guise as Witness to the Angel speculates on raw necessary existence Disney's Jiminy Cricket remains of course unconvinced The Exile's Papers: The dirt's passion is flesh sorrow Wayne Clifford, 2014-05-14 Wayne Clifford's The Exile's Papers first appeared in 2007 with the publication of The Duplicity of Autobiography but this creative project a four part series of hundreds of surreal straightforward narrative or mythic and endlessly varying sonnets is the culmination of decades of effort In 2009 the series continued with The Face As Its Thousand Ships and now emerges the third installment The Dirt's Passion Is Flesh Sorrow Described by critics as resonant striking quixotic elegant ribald and jazzy Clifford's sonnets defy categories or boundaries He is a master of the form and every page is an example of how a great poet can use a complicated structure to achieve depth of thought beauty and explosive resolutions or in many cases questions In fact every poem reinvents the sonnet itself and despite all poems sharing the same form each one is sharply conclusively differentiated from the others These are sonnets like you've never read before Clifford often draws on his own life experiences fatherhood love death and uncertainty but he also has plenty to say about God pop culture and the foolhardiness of certain current political figures In the end though the collection remains a remarkably cohesive intelligent and death defying foray into an ancient form that never knew what hit it
