Working With Parents Infants:

Working with Parents and Infants Rose M. Bromwich, Dorothea Burge, Ellen Khokha, 1981 The Baby and the Couple Elisabeth Fivaz-Depeursinge, Diane A. Philipp, 2014-04-11 The Baby and the Couple provides an insider's view on how infant communication develops in the context of the family and how parents either work together as a team or struggle in the process. The authors present vignettes from everyday life as well as case studies from a longitudinal research project of infants and their parents interacting together in the Lausanne Trilogue Play (LTP), an assessment tool for very young families. Divided into three parts, the book focuses not only on the parents but also on the infant's contribution to the family. Part 1 presents a case study of Lucas and his family from infancy to age 5. With each chapter, we see how, in the context of their families, infants learn to communicate with more than one person at a time. Part 2 explores how infants cope when their parents struggle to work together, excluding, competing, or only connecting through their child. The authors follow several case examples from infancy through to early childhood to illustrate various forms of problematic co-parenting along with the infant's derailed trajectory at different ages and stages. In Part 3, prevention and intervention models based on the LTP are presented. In addition to an overview of these programs, chapters are devoted to the Developmental Systems Consultation, which combines use of the LTP and video feedback, and a new model, Reflective Family Play, which allows whole families to engage in treatment. The Baby and the Couple is a vital resource for professionals working in the fields of infant and preschool mental health, including psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers, family therapists, and educators, as well as researchers.

Working With Fathers in Psychoanalytic Parent-Infant Psychotherapy Tessa Baradon, 2019-02-07 Working With Fathers in Psychoanalytic Parent-Infant Psychotherapy interfaces theoretical ideas about fatherhood and their incorporation into the clinical practice of psychoanalytic parent-infant psychotherapy. Often, when a family attends parent-infant psychotherapy, issues of the father are eclipsed by attention to the mother, who is usually the identified patient. Until now, relatively neglected in the literature, this book attends to both the barriers to psychological work with the father and to ways in which he can be engaged in a therapeutic process. In this book, Tessa Baradon brings together some of the most eminent clinicians and academics in the field of parent-infant psychotherapy in a layered collection of theoretical and clinical contributions. She and her co-discussants Björn Salomonsson and Kai von Klitzing conclude with an integration and critique of the themes presented, exploring the ideas of their fellow contributors and expanding on the central themes of the work. Working With Fathers in Psychoanalytic Parent-Infant Psychotherapy will be of interest to mental health practitioners working with infants who will learn that each individual and the family as a system can benefit from such an inclusive approach.

Working with Parents and Infants Antonella Sansone, 2018-04-24 Working with Parents and Infants is aimed at understanding the process of psychosomatic illness, exploring the embodiment of psychosomatic health and illness and the inseparability of psyche and soma. Within this book, the author highlights the beneficial function of psychosomatic symptoms.

such as mastitis in signalling to the counsellor or therapist as well as the patient the need for change and the path through which it may occur Research and clinical literature have often overlooked the relationship between the woman's attitude to her bodyself thus her mind body integration breastfeeding and the quality of interactions with her baby A psychosomatic disturbance is in this book conceived as an impaired sense of bodyself or in other words a lack of psycho soma integration The author presents a new approach to health and the healing relationship emerging from a meeting between Eastern meditative disciplines and Western psychological practise Working with Parents and Infants Rose M. Bromwich,1978
