Theological Reflection:

What are They Saying about Theological Reflection? Robert L. Kinast, 2000 Theological reflection is a form of theologizing that begins with lived experience correlates this with the sources of Christian faith and draws out concrete implications for praxis Robert Kinast finds five distinct types of theological reflection from within this common form ministerial spiritual wisdom feminist inculturation and practical theology Each of these styles is analyzed in terms of the type of experience it favors the way it connects this experience to theology and what sort of praxis it envisions The end result is a succinct overview of this wide ranging and diverse approach to theology BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Theological Reflection: Methods, 2nd Edition Elaine Graham, Heather Walton, Frances Ward, 2019-02-27 Theological Reflections Methods offers a comprehensive collection of models of theological reflection By bringing this diverse collection together in one place the editors create a unique reference work that allows a clear and visible contrast and comparison as each model is treated formally and in a standard format Throughout each chapter the distinguishing features of the model are examined the geneology and origins are discussed worked examples of the model applied to contemporary theology are provided and critical commentary future trends and exercises and questions are provided Now firmly established as an essential text on theological reflection this new edition has been revised and updated with a new introduction updated examples and refreshed bibliographies Method in Ministry James D. Whitehead, Evelyn Eaton Whitehead, 1995-09 Theological Reflection and Christian Ministry James Evelyn Whitehead Topics ranging from Tradition and the minister to the broad concerns of theology in conversation with culture Theological Reflection Joye Gros, 2010-06 Many people today are asking the meaning making questions We want our lives to have meaning We want to know how our faith informs our work life how our family life enhances our spirituality and how we can feel less fragmented and more whole These are the spiritual questions of life They are wisdom seeking invitations stirring within the depths of our souls These are the hungers that theological reflection can help feed This book offers an understanding of theological reflection a model and a method It will not only illustrate how readers may use theological reflection in their own spiritual development but will also show how to facilitate the process with others From the introduction In Theological Reflection Connecting Faith and Life principles of theological reflection are presented to help the believer connect faith teaching and life Catholic Basics A Pastoral Ministry Series offers an in depth yet accessible understanding of the fundamentals of the Catholic faith for adults both those active in pastoral ministry and those preparing for ministry The series helps readers explore the Catholic tradition and apply what they have learned to their lives and ministry situations Includes study questions and suggestions for further reading Brimming with God Barbara J. Blodgett, Matthew Floding, 2015-08-13 The yearning to be a theologian is widespread Pastors students supervisors and mentors all wish to think theologically about their ministries but often feel inadequately prepared This book seeks to respond by showcasing a variety of approaches to theological reflection brought to bear upon actual situations in ministry. It is written by theological field educators. We define theological reflection as reflection upon lived embodied experiences in ministry that seeks to make sense of practice and form reflectors in habits for competent ministry. An introductory chapter defines theological reflection as practiced within field education and points readers toward a diversity of approaches. Eleven subsequent chapters present two reflections upon the same case each reflection written by a different author and representing a different reflection method. The book's significance is as a resource for teaching theological reflection in a range of settings. It not only offers a definition of and rationale for theological reflection but models various approaches to it. Its use of cases furthermore models the use of case studies in theological education and pastoral practice more widely.

Reordering Theological Reflection Helen Collins, 2020-07-10 Offering an alternative to the usual models of theological reflection this careful and helpful guide demonstrates to students the possibilities which emerge when the starting point for theological reflective practice is Making Faith-sense Robert L. Kinast, 1999 Making faith sense is a new term for an ancient practice. It is what the early Christians called mystical or wisdom theology understanding life in the light of God's participation recorded in the Gospels recognizing the signs of God's presence in everyday events and shaping one's life accordingly. In Making Faith Sense Robert Kinast shows all who seek to unify their life experience around their belief in God how to follow that ancient practice. Drawing upon the award winning process he has used with students for the ministry Father Kinast explains how to make sense of family work and cultural experience from the perspective of Christian faith. Each chapter contains numerous real life examples and practical guidelines that can be used privately or with a group. Making Faith Sense begins with a discussion of wisdom theology and its revival in modern times highlighting the turn to experience that characterizes feminist liberation and inculturated theologies. The methods for making faith sense embrace three main components: experience, reflection, and action. The first section describes what is meant by experience, the value of narrating it, how to analyze it, and what to pay attention to so that experience will reveal its theological meaning. The second section explains the role of reflection, its similarity to prayer, techniques for connecting experience to theological tradition, and the most useful theological resources for making faith sense. The third section affirms the importance of putting reflection into practice, ensuring that action flows from reflection, of planning and evaluating the effect of one's practice, and of using practice as the starting point for continuing the process of making faith sense. Examples from work, family, and cultural life are used throughout to provide illustrations of these general points. A concluding chapter summarizes the reemergence of practical theology since the 1980s as an effort of church communities to make faith sense of their collective lives. Chapters are: What Is Faith Sense, How to Make Faith Sense, Getting Started, How to Make Faith Sense: The Heart of the Matter, and Enacting Faith Sense: The Culmination of the Process. Robert L. Kinast, PhD is a pastoral theologian specializing in the field of theological reflection. Through the publications and services of the Center for Theological Reflection, Indian Rocks Beach.

Florida he contributes to the ministry training programs of many denominations in the United States and Canada Father Kinast is the author of the Vatican II Act II series and Let Ministry Teach published by Liturgical Press

Theological Reflection across Religious Traditions Edward Foley, 2015-02-12 Theological reflection connecting real life ministry and religious traditions is a core component of most pastoral training It is also a hallmark of practical theology and a common spiritual exercise among ordinary Christians trying to discern how their beliefs might influence daily living Yet our society is increasingly pluralistic with growing numbers of people from varying belief systems from Islam to Buddhism as well as an increasing number of atheists In this book Edward Foley reimagines theological reflection in interfaith contexts and with those of no faith tradition The book addresses and celebrates diverse beliefs and envisions the practice of theological reflection in such contexts Theological Reflection Across Religious Traditions introduces readers to the basics of traditional forms of theological reflection then considers how it might be reconceived in different contexts from interfaith ministers working together to reduce poverty and homelessness to people of diverse or no faith traditions strategizing to secure the dignity of undocumented immigrants Beyond suggestions for collaborative social action the book offers tools for productive interfaith conversation through a process Foley calls reflective believing This is a groundbreaking rethinking of theological reflection for today s world proposing that people across the religious landscape can participate in reflective believing for personal and communal benefit without sacrificing their own integrity emphasis providing students with a wide variety of worked examples and opportunities to carry out their own exercises This 2nd edition will bring the content up to date offering a revised and improved bibliography and updated and refreshed examples and exercises including new sections on scriptural reasoning and contemplative theology Let Ministry Teach Robert L. Kinast, 1996 Relating theology to the practice of ministry is one of the most elusive goals in pastoral training Drawing upon seventeen years of experience in theology Doctor Kinast describes a step by step approach to help students and experienced ministers learn what their ministry teaches Through examples practical suggestions and principles grounded in process theology readers of Let Ministry Teach explore the full range of resources needed for meaningful theological reflection Let Ministry Teach strikes a clear balance between a very broad and detailed presentation of a theological reflection method so that it is neither too simplistic nor too hard to handle Each chapter describes a fundamental step in the method with the help of an illustration and commentary Chapters conclude with a list of practical suggestions and a short description of the theoretical background and its main points The challenge of theological reflection is to keep theology in the authentic experience of God's presence in our midst Let Ministry Teach places this reflection in context in a small group where it works best as a meaningful experience one that has an impact and initiates discussion as a faith theological perspective reflecting on experience from many points of view as a practical outcome where a person is in a better position to guide events according to one's beliefs and as a continuous process a skill which must be practiced In Let Ministry Teach Doctor Kinast develops a successful way of doing theological reflection which includes selecting an experience focusing on the meaningful moments describing an experience making it available for reflection entering an experience learning what it has to teach learning from an experience grasping what it teaches by relating it to what a person already knows and what the experience suggests is yet to be learned and enacting the learning incorporating the learning into a pattern of living and theological reflection The true basis of theological reflection a full deep meaningful embrace of life is learned from one's own experience Respectful of the full range of theological resources available for reflection and mindful of the primary goal of recognizing God's presence and responding to it theological reflection weaves experience and theology together into a way of life that continues the journey begun when Jesus first appeared Let Ministry Teach is offered as a companion for those on that journey Robert L. Kinast a pastoral theologian specializes in the field of theological reflection Through the publications and services of the Center for Theological Reflection Indian Rocks Beach Florida he contributes to the ministry training programs of many denominations in the United States and Canada He is the author of the Vatican II Act II series and Mirror Meditations Praying with the Images of Vatican II published by Liturgical Press The Art of Theological Reflection Patricia O'Connell Killen, John De Beer, 1994 Here is a book for the millions of Christians who want to make a vital connection between their faith and their lives The authors describe theological reflection as the artful discipline of putting our experience into conversation with the heritage of the Christian tradition Their practical book provides a way for all of us to experience greater meaning in life and a more tangible sense of God's creative presence

Reflective Writing. Approaching Methods of Theological Reflection and Meaning of Life Victor Frimpong, 2020-07-03

Essay from the year 2020 in the subject Philosophy Practical Ethics Aesthetics Culture Nature Right grade B UGSM Monarch Business School Switzerland language English abstract This essay illustrates a trajectory of a reflective model using real life individual experience and leading to action Reflective writings are well covered in academic and applied works of literature even though reflection is a social construct subjected to varying interpretations and no clear consensus on what and how it should look like The core meaning of reflection is occasionally contested even belittled as mere individual self dialogue Popular commentary has wondered whether a mere recollection of event on a reflective format leads to any meanings at all What we do know is that reflection offers an opportunity to consider how one's personal experiences and observations through critical thinking and acceptance of new ideas

Sexuality and the Sacred James B. Nelson, Sandra P.

Longfellow, 1994-01-01 This volume is rooted in two convictions first sexuality is far more comprehensive and more fundamental to our existence than simply genital sex and second sexuality is intended by God to be neither incidental nor detrimental to our spirituality but a fully integrated and basic dimension of that spirituality The authors address what our sexual experience reveals about God the ways we understand the gospel and the ways we read scripture and tradition and attempt to live faithfully

Theological Reflection and Education for Ministry John E. Paver, 2016-02-17 A major and continuing problem for theological education and the practice of Christian ministry is how to best achieve a genuine integration between theory and practice theology and experience The key claim of this book is that theological reflection beginning with experience is a method of integration and that pastoral supervision is a vehicle for theological reflection In establishing this claim John Paver demonstrates that the model and method have potential to be a catalyst for reform within theological colleges and seminaries Three different theological reflection models are developed and critiqued in this book and their capacity to be developed in particular contexts is explored This book does not stop at ministry cultural and personal integration but is bold enough to make recommendations for structural integration within the theological institution

Supervision of Ministry Students Regina Coll, 1992 Through a practical discussion of the aims of field education this work guides supervisors through their role in this crucial step in the education of ministerial students It clearly defines the role of supervisors their consequent responsibilities and ways in which to meet those responsibilities
