Creative Thinking Ann Baker, 2007 Adults accept that problems will occur at home and at work and that they need the disposition skills and strategies to deal with them As a learning experience children need to be given opportunities to identify exactly what a problem is and to be taught strategies to help them find a solution and to persist in challenging situations The activities in this series present a wide range of problematic situations for which there is more than one solution or more than one approach to the solution They are designed to lay the foundational skills strategies and attitudes for pupils to become life long problem solvers The series includes activities in the areas of maths literacy speaking and listening PSHE music and dance The activity sheets can be used in isolation as part of a sequence or dipped into as teachers require

Creative Thinking John F. Wakefield,1992 This book presents the results of a series of studies of the relationships between thinking skills and the artistic personality The relationships are explored in fifth grade eighth grade 12th grade and college through research with groups and individuals Logic insight divergent thinking and creative thinking are routinely assessed in relation to indications of artistic interest or talent Although each study is separate in its methods results converge on a portrait of the developing artist as an individual who finds problems and solves them in his or her own way The functional definition of creative thinking guides the research and is validated by the results at all grade levels The book also furnishes a conception of creative thinking as extremely difficult This statistical conception is proposed as an explanation for why nonconformity is a common theme in stories by creative individuals they are distant from the mode using the distance to achieve self definition Educational implications focus on cognitive skills training within the context of the arts and a balance between conventional and exceptional educational experiences to build bridges between arts students and the wider community
