Science of Human Nature and Art of Sustainable Happiness: Arrive 2 B U Emma-Shivani Brown Ph.D., 2019-09-30 Ultimately people want to be happy For most of us we seek happiness outside of ourselves We hope that our pursuit of a higher paying job a nicer house a new mate a faster speedboat etc will bring happiness These external desires might satisfy our appetite in the short term but when the shiny newness inevitably wears off we find ourselves feeling emotionally bankrupt and often in overwhelming debt We all want to know the secret to happiness even though very few of us actually have the motivation and dedication to work for it Recognizing and changing patterns of behavior that don't serve us adopting positivity practices living mindfully and flourishing often require a substantial life overhaul not just a makeover Here's the secret there is no secret to happiness Much research has been done and countless books classes conferences and programs come out every year each with a new take on this age old enigma

Fixing Higher Education Christian Schierenbeck, 2012-11-06 Christian Schierenbeck makes a provocative case that higher education across the globe suffers from a profound productivity crisis which prevents broad access to affordable and high quality educational services He shows how the vast productivity gap in higher education could be closed if academic managers borrowed some of the managerial practices applied by the world's leading business enterprises In order for this to happen in practice the author argues for radical changes in the policy framework for higher education
