Standing Into Danger

DOUBLEDAY

On the main deck, all of the galley deck, Harry Epper, W. G. Harris, and others had been arguing about the best way to get to the beach. It was obvious to them that they weren't a life-and-death struggle...

"Don't do it," Epper said.
"Can do it," W. G. insisted.
"The water is too cold and rough, you'll never make it."

"Look at it," Epper reasoned. "Look at the waves breaking on the cliffs. You'll never make it."
Harris would not listen. He had made up his mind and before anyone could stop him, he jumped over the side.

Epper was stunned. He watched the water, but saw no sign of his friend. A few minutes followed. W. G. and Harris began toward the beach, but a wave took them toward the oil slick, where they disappeared from view. Then, before his friends knew, they were lifted in the air, tossed to a great wave and capped by the heavy rain falling from the sky. Harris was dead.
