Aristotle and the Rehabilitation of Homonymy Marco Zingano,2025-05-15 Aristotle argued that scientific investigation depends on well established genera from which are revealed fundamental properties However the core elements of his philosophy are based on non generic unities Being is not a genus it is divided into ten categories or supreme genera Being serves as the primary concept in metaphysics also known as first philosophy Motion on the other hand is categorized into four types and is the central concept in physics or second philosophy Similarly the concept of the good can be understood in multiple categories just like being and it forms the central idea of practical philosophy Aristotle must confront the issue of homonymy at the very foundation of his philosophy The stakes are high as he believes that it is things not words that are homonymous This study explores the intriguing route Aristotle takes to justify attributing homonymy to things
