Structural Change And Development Policy:

Structural Change and Development Policy Hollis Burnley Chenery, Hazel Elkington, 1979 Development policy is concerned with long term changes in production investment trade employment and income distribution This book develops a set of techniques for analyzing these structural changes and applies them to some of the major problems of developing countries

Structural Change and Development Policy h. b. i Chenery, 1981 The Evolution of Economic Development in Africa Francis K. Mbroh, 2021-07-11 Within the theoretical framework of the trade growth and structural transformation growth nexuses the book examines the evolution of African goods and service trade in terms of value and share of global commerce relative to other regions during the period 1948 2017 It also identifies and discusses discernible changes in the composition and structure of African exports and imports between 1995 and 2015 and their implications for economic development in Africa The study attributes Africa s laggard trade performance during the period primarily to sub optimal macroeconomic policies and lack of bold export development policies and initiatives among other factors It also offers an incisive discussion of several inhibitions to the structural transformation of African exports and imports including lack of finance globalization tariff and non tariff measures in global markets The discussion of the evolution of African trade during the period 1948 2017 based on statistics and publications of international organizations including the UNCTAD the World Bank and the African Development Bank among others is the first of its kind in terms of scope and depth of review of African trade The analyses of cross border trade during 1948 2017 and their implications for Africa s economic development prospects constitute a useful reference material for academics and students of African and development studies and African and international policymakers

New Perspectives on Structural Change Ludovico Alcorta, Neil Foster-McGregor, Adam Szirmai, Bart Verspagen, 2021 A comprehensive edited volume that outlines the historical roots and state of the art debates on the role of structural change in the process of economic development including both orthodox and heterodox perspectives and contributions from prominent scholars in this field

The Oxford Handbook of Africa and Economics Célestin Monga, Justin Yifu Lin, 2015-07-02 A popular myth about the travails of Africa holds that the continent s long history of poor economic performance reflects the inability of its leaders and policymakers to fulfill the long list of preconditions to be met before sustained growth can be achieved These conditions are said to vary from the necessary quantity and quality of physical and human capital to the appropriate institutions and business environments While intellectually charming and often elegantly formulated that conventional wisdom is actually contradicted by historical evidence and common sense It also suggests a form of intellectual mimicry that posits a unique path to prosperity for all countries regardless of their level of development and economic structure In fact the argument underlining that reasoning is tautological and the policy prescriptions derived from it are fatally teleological low income countries are by definition those where such ingredients are missing None of today s high income countries started its growth process with the required and complete list of growth ingredients Unless one truly believes that the continent of Africa and most developing countries are ruled predominantly if not exclusively by plutocrats with a high propensity for sadomasochism the conventional view must be re examined debated and questioned This volume the second of the Oxford Handbook of Africa and Economics reassesses the economic policies and practices observed across the continent since independence It offers a collection of analyses by some of the leading economists and development thinkers of our time and reflects a wide range of perspectives and viewpoints Africa's emergence as a potential economic powerhouse in the years and decades ahead amply justifies the scope and ambition of the book

The Oxford Handbook of Industrial Hubs and Economic Development Arkebe Oqubay, Justin Yifu Lin, 2020 This Handbook illustrates the diverse and complex nature of industrial hubs and shows how industrial hubs promote industrialization economic structural transformation and economic catch up

Industrial Development in Africa Berhanu Abegaz, 2018-02-21 Industrial Development in Africa critically synthesizes and reframes the debates on African industrial development in a capability opportunity framework It recasts the challenge in a broader comparative context of successive waves of catchup industrialization experiences in the European periphery Latin America and East Asia Berhanu Abegaz explores the case for resource based and factor based industrialization in North Africa and Sub Saharan Africa by drawing on insights from the history of industrialization development economics political economy and institutional economics Unpacking complex and diverse experiences the chapters look at Africa at several levels continent wide sub regions on both sides of the Sahara and present analytical case studies of 12 representative countries Egypt Tunisia Ethiopia Kenya Tanzania Mauritius Zimbabwe South Africa Ghana Nigeria Senegal and Cote d'Ivoire Industrial Development in Africa will be of interest to undergraduate and graduate students studying African development African economics and late stage industrialization The book will also be of interest to policymakers

The Politics of Urban Development Clarence Nathan Stone, Heywood T. Sanders, 1987 In the past twenty years the study of urban politics has shifted from a predominant concern with political culture and ethos to a preoccupation with political economy particularly that of urban development Urban scholars have come to recognize that cities are shaped by forces beyond their boundaries From that focus have emerged the views that cities are clearly engaged in economic competition that market processes are shaped by national policy decisions sometimes intentionally and sometimes inadvertently and that the costs and benefits of economic growth are unevenly distributed But what else needs to be said about the policies and politics of urban development To supplement prevailing theories The Politics of Urban Development argues that the role of local actors in making development decisions merits closer study Whatever the structural constraints politics still matters Collectively the essays provide ample evidence that local government officials and other community actors do not simply follow the imperatives that derive from the national political economy they are able to assert a significant degree of influence over the shared destiny of an urban population The impact of the collection is to heighten awareness of local political practices and of how and why they make a difference Development Policy and Planning Pradip K. Ghosh, University of Maryland, College Park. Center for International Development, World Academy of Development and Cooperation, 1984-09-21 This volume examines the experiences of a number of Third World countries in implementing development plans in the 1970s and offers some guidelines for research development and analysis of policy Some chapters focus on theoretical issues such as the place of development on the policy agenda and the institutionalization of development policy planning Other chapters detail global and national strategies for employment reducing poverty and developing human resources The use of various economic indicators as tools for planning and analysis is also discussed International Development Bruce Currie-Alder, Ravi Kanbur, David M. Malone, Rohinton Medhora, 2014 A central premise is that an objective and universally accepted measure of success in development and paths to it does not exist STRUCTURAL CHANGE AND DEVELOPMENT POLICY Hollis Burnley CHENERY, 1979 Rethinking Development Policy: Deindustrialization, Servicification and Structural Transformation Manoj Atolia, Mr. Prakash Loungani, Milton Marquis, Mr. Chris Papageorgiou, 2018-10-01 This paper takes a fresh look at the current theories of structural transformation and the role of private and public fundamentals in the process It summarizes some representative past and current experiences of various countries vis a vis structural transformation with a focus on the roles of manufacturing policy and the international environment in shaping the trajectory of structural transformation The salient aspects of the current debate on premature deindustrialization and its relation to a middle income trap are described as they relate to the path of structural transformation Conclusions are drawn regarding prospective future paths for structural transformation and development policies Structural change, fundamentals, and growth: a framework and case studies McMillan, Margaret, Rodrik, Dani, Sepúlveda, Claudia, 2017-05-11 Development Co-operation Efforts and Policies of the Members of the Development Assistance Committee Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development. Development Assistance Committee, 1977 Poverty Alleviation, Economic Growth and Development Policy in East Asia Romeo M. Bautista, 1990 Comparative study that shows that most of the countries in the East Asia region have emphasised with varying success policies promoting economic growth rather than ones stressing income redistribution Working Paper No 90 5 in the Centre s series Territorial Development and Structural Change Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, 1993 On cover title page Local initiatives for employment creation International Labour Documentation International Labour Organization. Central Library and Documentation Bureau, 1997-08 The industrial policies of 14 member countries Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, 1971 Economic Development Bruce H.
