Structure and Process in Southeastern Archaeology Roy S. Dickens Jr, H. Trawick Ward, 2002-05-14 Within the general structure and process theme of this compendium the authors have focused on either intrasite problems those dealing with the formation and structure of a site type of site or type of feature or intersite problems those dealing with behavioral organization and process as developed from comparative site data These papers from a broad range of specialists present a comprehensive study of southeastern archaeology

Structure and Process in Southeastern Archaeology Roy S. Dickens, H. Trawick Ward, 1985 A Dan Josselyn Memorial Publication Within the general structure and process theme of this compendium the authors have focused on either intrasite problems those dealing with the formation and structure of a site type of site or type of feature or intersite problems those dealing with behavioral organization and process as developed from comparative site data These papers from a broad range of specialists present a comprehensive study of southeastern archaeology

Structure and Process in Southeastern Archaeology is a foundational work that reshapes how scholars understand the cultural and social dynamics of prehistoric communities in the Southeastern United States Roy S Dickens Jr and H Trawick Ward bring together decades of fieldwork theoretical insight and regional expertise to explore how ancient societies organized themselves interacted and evolved over time Rather than focusing solely on artifacts or isolated site reports this volume emphasizes the broader patterns both structural and processual that define the archaeological record of the Southeast Through a careful synthesis of settlement data material culture and environmental context the authors reveal how social organization political structures and cultural practices were deeply embedded in the landscape Their approach integrates processual archaeology with a nuanced understanding of regional variation offering readers a dynamic view of how prehistoric communities adapted to changing conditions and interacted across space and time This book is particularly valuable for archaeologists anthropologists and historians seeking to move beyond descriptive accounts toward more interpretive frameworks It provides a model for analyzing archaeological data in ways that illuminate the lived experiences of ancient peoples making it a vital resource for both academic research and classroom instruction The authors clear writing and thoughtful analysis make complex ideas accessible without sacrificing scholarly rigor Whether you re studying Mississippian chiefdoms Woodland period settlements or the broader cultural landscapes of the American South Structure and Process in Southeastern Archaeology offers essential tools for understanding the past It stands as a testament to the importance of theory driven context rich archaeological interpretation

Handbook of Landscape Archaeology Bruno David, Julian Thomas, 2016-06-03 Over 80 archaeologists from four continents create a benchmark volume of the ideas and practices of landscape archaeology covering the theoretical and the practical the research and conservation and encasing the term in a global framework

Archaeology of the Appalachian Highlands Lynne P. Sullivan, Susan C. Prezzano, 2001 This volume is a major synthesis of the archaeology of the Appalachian region and includes much material that was previously unpublished or underpublished The information and interpretations presented will be very useful for archaeologists working in eastern North America who are interested in this diverse region C Clifford Boyd Jr Radford University Archaeology of the Appalachian Highlands reveals that every part of Appalachia yields archaeological evidence significant to understanding the broad prehistoric sweep of the American Indians In this most welcome volume editors Lynn Sullivan and Susan Prezzano have assembled the most current interpretations of archaeological theory technology and cultural history as these occur in the highlands of eastern North America This volume to shatter myths about Appalachian and its past David S Brose Director Schiele Museum of Natural History Southeastern Archaeology, 1996 Archaeological Adaptation C. Clifford Boyd, 2026-10-25 Archaeological Adaptation Case Studies of Cultural Transformation from the Southeast and Caribbean honors the work of longtime University of Tennessee anthropology professor Gerald Schroedl whose career encompassed fieldwork and research in both prehistoric and historic archaeology Schroedl s early career often focused its analysis on Mississippian and Cherokee sites while his later years found him delving into historic archaeology in the Caribbean Revisiting these touchstones of Schroedl s work editor C Clifford Boyd here gathers essays around the disciplinary theme of documentation and analysis of change Contributors study excavations in Tennessee Virginia South Carolina wider southern Appalachia and the Caribbean providing insight into Native American African American and English civilizations Artifacts architecture human and structural remains and climatic and environmental factors yield insight into changing settlement patterns tribal practices material culture economic and political power relations and health and nutrition A preface tracing Schroedl s career and an afterword addressing developments in archaeological theory round out the volume Formation Processes of the Archaeological Record Michael B. Schiffer, 1996 Synthesizes the most important principles of cultural and environmental formation processes for both students and practicing archaeologists Formation Processes in Archaeological Context Paul Goldberg, David T. Nash, Michael D. Petraglia, 1993 Archaeology as a Process Michael John O'Brien, R. Lee Lyman, Michael B. Schiffer, 2005 The publication in 1962 of Lew Binford s paper Archaeology as Anthropology is generally considered to mark the birth of processualism a critical turning point in American archaeology In the hands of Binford and other young University of Chicago graduates of the 1960s this new archaeology became the mainstream approach in the U S The realignment that the processualists proposed was so thorough that its effects are still being felt today Predictably processualism also spun off a number of other isms several of which grew up to challenge its supremacy Archaeology as a Process traces the intellectual history of Americanist archaeology in terms of the research groups that were at the forefront of these various approaches concentrating as much on the archaeologists as it does on method and theory thus setting it apart from other treatments published in the last fifteen years Peppered with rare photographs of well known archaeologists in some interesting settings the book documents the swirl and excitement of archaeological controversy for the past forty years with over 1 600 references and an in depth treatment of all the major intellectual approaches The contributors examine how archaeology is conducted the ins and outs of how various groups work to promote themselves and how personal ambition and animosities can function to further rather than retard the development of the discipline

American Anthropologist, 2002 The Transformation of the Southeastern Indians, 1540-1760 Robbie Ethridge, Charles Hudson, 2010-12-01 With essays by Stephen Davis Penelope Drooker Patricia K Galloway Steven Hahn Charles Hudson Marvin Jeter Paul Kelton Timothy Pertulla Christopher Rodning Helen Rountree Marvin T Smith and John Worth The first two hundred years of Western civilization in the Americas was a time when fundamental and sometimes catastrophic changes occurred in Native American communities in the South In The Transformation of the Southeastern Indians 1540 1760 historians anthropologists and archaeologists provide perspectives on how this era shaped American Indian society for later generations and how it even affects these communities today This collection of essays presents the most current scholarship on the social history of the South identifying and examining the historical forces trends and events that were attendant to the formation of the Indians of the colonial South The essayists discuss how Southeastern Indian culture and society evolved They focus on such aspects as the introduction of European diseases to the New World long distance migration and relocation the influences of the Spanish mission system the effects of the English plantation system the northern fur trade of the English and the French Dutch and English trade of Indian slaves and deerskins in the South This book covers the full geographic and social scope of the Southeast including the indigenous peoples of Florida Virginia Maryland the Appalachian Mountains the Carolina Piedmont the Ohio Valley and the Central and Lower Mississippi Valleys

The Archaeology of Food and Identity Katheryn C. Twiss, 2007 The chapters in this topically and methodologically diverse volume discuss the role food plays in the construction and maintenance of multiple levels of social identity they also illustrate the myriad ways in which archaeologists may approach the issue The book includes essays from archaeologists working in a wide range of time periods and areas prehistorians and historical archaeologists specialists in the Old World and experts on the New World Contributors use diverse data sets to discuss how food procurement strategies consumption patterns and modes of cooking and dining are intertwined with the construction and maintenance of individual and group identities

Feasts Michael Dietler, Brian Hayden, 2001 From the Ancient Near East to Modern Day North America communal consumption of food and drink punctuates the rhythms of human societies Feasts serve many social purposes establishing alliances for war and marriage mobilizing labor creating political power and economic advantages and redistributing wealth This collection of fifteen essays combines ethnographic and archaeological perspectives to examine the cultural economic and political importance of feasts considering traditional and modern practices from Africa Southeast Asia the Near East Polynesia New Guinea and the Americas Recording types and quantities of food preparation techniques and numbers of participants the ethnographers provide a much needed behavioral context and theoretical framework for these intricate social interactions and attempt to link feasting practices to physical evidence The archaeologists examine the locations of roasting pits hearths and refuse deposits or the presence of special decorative ceramics and infer the ways in which feasting traditions reveal social structures of lineage clan moiety and polity As practices for organizing ancient and modern societies feasts are intimately implicated in the processes of social and cultural change This book makes these rituals more accessible to archaeological analysis and interpretation Jacket Trend, Tradition, and Turmoil David Hurst Thomas, Matthew C. Sanger, David G. Anderson, 2010 The late Archaic of the American Southeast is typically described as a time of population growth innovative developments in subsistence strategies and increased social complexity Although it is difficult to generalize many early Woodland communities are characterized as relatively small scale fairly mobile foragers organized into unranked or minimally ranked lineages and clans Early Woodland groups also seem to be more socially isolated than their late Archaic predecessors with a decline in regional exchange networks The papers in this volume were presented at a conference entitled What Happened in the Late Archaic which was co sponsored by the American Museum of Natural History and the St Catherines Island Foundation and held on St Catherines Island Georgia May 9 11 2008 The Third Caldwell Conference invited the participants to engage the appropriate archaeological data from the American Southeast specifically addressing the nature of change during the late Archaic early Woodland transition This volume consists of a dozen substantive papers followed by three discussant contributions The Ceramic Legacy of Anna O. Shepard Ronald L. Bishop, Frederick W. Lange, 1991 Archaeological Series, 1982 Annual Report - Institute of Archeology and Anthropology, University of South Carolina University of South Carolina. Institute of Archeology and Anthropology, 1985 Shaw Air Force Base John S. Cable, 1998 Long-term Subsistence Change in Prehistoric North America Dale R. Croes, Barry L. Isaac, 1992 Part of a series which explores research in economic anthropology this volume examines long term subsistence in prehistoric North America Topics include subsistence inferences from woodland and Missippian ceramics and reservoirs and locational shifts in Sonoran desert subsistence among others Indian Archaeology in Retrospect: Archaeology and historiography: history, theory, and method S.
