Scope of the Book:

The business transaction scenario provides an illustration of an implementation of a long running transaction, based on web service transactions and generally consists of automatic transactions. The resources allocated by and automatic transactions must be successfully deallocated if the overall business transaction fails and comparison is one common methodology for performing this deallocation in a business transaction protocol. Additionally, security is always a chief and critical issue in this web-based domain.

This edited book deals with the current and highly relevant demands, strategies and stakeholders of the business world implemented on the web. The wide range of related topics and applications is impressive and useful now a day's society and this book is going to describe the current state of the art and present fresh view points and novel solutions. Therefore, this book is going to be not only useful for leaders and policymakers in business enterprises, but also for specialists, developers and researchers involved with web transitions and related security demands.
