The Turnabout:

Behavior and Environment A. Esser, 2012-12-06 The International Symposium on The Use of Space by Animals and Men sponsored by the Animal Behavior Society took place at the 135th Annual Meeting of the AAAS in Dallas Texas on December 29 31 1968 This book presents the text of all papers and edited discussions as well as the contributions made by several individuals who were unable to attend the Symposium The idea of holding the Symposium evolved following my presentation of a paper to the Animal Behavior Society in 1965 2 on the use of space by psychiatric patients Members in attendance at that session chaired by G Gottlieb shared his interest in my compilation of human data presented in a measurable spatial context This pleasant experience persuaded me that a discussion of space might be shared as a frame of reference which could open avenues of communication between behavioral scientists the design community and the decision makers in our society

eras revealing how corporate power was instrumental in designing and revamping the system Her narrative encompasses the formative era of 1880 1930 when teachers unions moderated business plans previously unexplored business activism from 1930 to 1980 when civil rights dominated school reform and the decentralization of the 1980s She also covers the uneasy cooperation among business associations in the 1990s to install the mayor as head of the school system a governing regime now challenged by privatization advocates Business people may be too wedded to a stunted view of educators to forge a productive partnership for change Unionized teachers bridle at the second class status accorded them by managers If reform is to reach deeply into classrooms Shipps concludes it might well require a new coalition of teachers unions and parents to create a fresh agenda that supersedes corporate interests This study clearly shows that in Chicago as elsewhere urban schooling is intertwined with politics and power By reviewing more than a century of corporate efforts to make education work Shipps makes a strong case that it s high time to look elsewhere perhaps to educators themselves for new leadership
