Nault,2008 Development is one of the most ubiquitous yet least understood concepts of our age It is something all governments claim to be engaged in and is considered desirable by scholars activists policymakers and laypeople alike Yet it is also a highly contested term For some development is simply a matter of economic growth Others maintain that it must entail improving life expectancy literacy education levels and access to resources Others yet disillusioned by the results of development initiatives have rejected development altogether equating it with a self serving aid industry that entraps the poor in a vicious cycle of dependency Still critics argue these post development theorists merely replicate earlier doctrines of development and have themselves become part of the problem they wish to transcend This book a collection of works by scholars of development examines the theory and practice of development and its implications and varied meanings in Asian contexts It attempts to understand development both in its objective and constructivist senses That is it examines how societies and nations have developed over time and how leaders experts and governments have attempted to shape these same societies and nations It also analyzes development in civil society and how non state actors have conceived participated in and been affected by the process Has true development been occurring in Asia Is it possible to direct development How are real people affected by development Should the concept of development be retained or discarded These are a few key questions covered in this book

The Thoughtful Guide to Religion Ivor Morrish,2007-11 Son of Karbala Fadhlalla Haeri,2006 Educated in Europe working for much of his life in the USA and then around the world in the oil business Haeri has a unique perspective to offer on the political history of the region Interwoven with episodes from his own life he traces the collapse of the old consensus as dictators supported by the West destroyed the social ties that held the country together for centuries Mixing with government ministers and meetings with Ayatollah Khomeini shaped his view of a people betrayed by higher interests In this autobiography the colours smells sounds and political realities on the ground in Iraq come to life But Shaykh s concern has always been spiritual rather than political the struggle in each one of us for truth against the winds of expediency and greed that drive the world today rather than the particular shaping of a nation state An acknowledged Shaykh of several Sufi orders his main aim is to make accessible to younger generations the Islamic transactional way of life
