States of Violence and the Civilising Process Rob Watts, 2016-05-30 This book offers a distinctive and novel approach to state sponsored violence one of the major problems facing humanity in the previous and now the twenty first century It addresses the question how is it possible that large numbers of ordinary men and women are able to do the killing torturing and violence that defines crimes against humanity In his striking analysis Rob Watts shows how and why states of all political persuasions engage in crimes against humanity including genocide homicide torture kidnapping illegal surveillance and detention This book advances a new interpretive frame It argues against the civilizing process model showing how both states and social sciences like sociology and criminology have been complicit in splitting the social from the ethical while accepting too complacently that modern states are the exemplars of morality and rationality The book makes the case that it is possible to bring together in the one interpretative frame our understanding of social action involving personal motivation and ethical responsibility and patterns of collective social action operating in terms of the agencies of the State Rob Watts identifies and charts the

pathways of action and practical i.e. ethical judgements which the perpetrators of these crimes against humanity constructed for themselves to make sense of what they were doing At once challenging and highly accessible the book reveals the policy making processes that produce state crime as well as showing how ordinary people do the state's dirty work

Lordship and Liberation in Palestine-Israel Muhannad Ayyash, 2025-07-22 This interdisciplinary book provides timely fresh perspective on Palestine Israel by rethinking the nature of settler colonial sovereignty and the relationship between land and people Muhannad Ayyash argues that this relationship comes in two distinct forms a settler colonial type practiced by the Israeli state that consists of lordship over land and people and a decolonial type seen in Palestinian popular organizing that he calls land as life a reciprocal bond The former is characterized by private ownership possession and violent expulsion of others the latter by communal ownership belonging to the land and opposition to the violence of expulsion Ranging widely across theory and history Ayyash contends that the opposition between these two types is at the core of the Palestinian Israeli struggle The choice before us today he concludes is between the continuation of the Israeli settler colonial project in particular and the project of colonial modernity in general or the commencement of a decolonial age in Palestine Israel and beyond Offering both novel theorizations and politically engaged analysis Lordship and Liberation in Palestine Israel illuminates how decolonial sovereignties represent an alternative to settler colonial violence

Automatic Timothy Wientzen, 2021-08-31 A fascinating study of how behavioral science shaped twentieth century politics and the modernist literary period The advent of the twentieth century famously brought about new personal and political freedoms including radical changes in voting rights and expressions of gender and sexuality Yet writers and cultural critics shared a sense that modern life reduced citizens to automatons capable of interacting with the world in only the most reflexive ways In Automatic Timothy Wientzen asks why modernists were deeply anxious about the role of reflexive behaviors and the susceptibility of bodies to physical stimuli in the new political structures of the twentieth century Engaging with historical thinking about human behaviors that fundamentally changed the nature of political and literary practice Wientzen demonstrates the ways in which a politics of reflex came to shape the intellectual and cultural life of the modernist era Documenting some of the ways that modernist writers and their contemporaries mapped harnessed and intervened in a political sphere dominated by conditioned reflexes Wientzen reads writers like D H Lawrence Rebecca West Wyndham Lewis and Samuel Beckett in conversation with fields that include public relations physiology sociology and vitalism Ultimately he justifies a reckoning with some of the most enduring preoccupations of modernist studies Automatic further emphasizes the role of politics and science in the aesthetic projects of modernist writers At a moment when political enfranchisement and the mass media promised new modes of freedom agency and choice Wientzen argues that the modernist era was beset by apprehension about the conscription of liberty through the conditioning force of everyday life Analyzing such thinking through a neglected archive about embodiment and reflex reveals modernists responding to the historically novel conditions of political life in the twentieth century conditions that have become entrenched in the politics of our own century The Darker Angels of Our Nature Philip Dwyer,Mark Micale,2021-08-12 In The Better Angels of Our Nature Harvard psychologist Steven Pinker argued that modern history has witnessed a dramatic decline in human violence of every kind and that in the present we are experiencing the most peaceful time in human history But what do top historians think about Pinker s reading of the past Does his argument stand up to historical analysis In The Darker Angels of our Nature seventeen scholars of international stature evaluate Pinker s arguments and find them lacking Studying the history of violence from Japan and Russia to Native America Medieval England and the Imperial Middle East these scholars debunk the myth of non violent modernity Asserting that the real story of human violence is richer more interesting and incomparably more complex than Pinker s sweeping simplified narrative this book tests and bests fake history with expert knowledge Genesis of modern genocide Matthias Quent,2009-03-24 Essay from the year 2008 in the subject Sociology Law and Delinquency grade 1 0 University of Leicester language English abstract The phrase that the civilized Western World has to defence its values even by using physical violence is often mentioned by politicians and media makers Especially the war on terror draws a picture of the necessity of the West s force against the barbarism which seems to menace the civilized order In fact that seems to be a contradiction in terms How can underdeveloped uncivilized and uneducated people be able to menace the countries with the world most developed technologies and the highest standard of civilization as it s often is said Norbert Elias presents a theory of the civilizing process which includes the opinion that a lot of things which a member of the present day Western civilized society esteems uncivilized in other societies today can be found in past epochs of his own society like the medieval feudal period The key question to understand on the one hand the civilizing process itself and the problem of the so called breakdown of civilization even in modern states on the other hand is how the civilizing of the West actually did happen

Violence and Emotions in Early Modern Europe Susan Broomhall,Sarah Finn,2015-07-30 Violence and Emotions in Early Modern Europe examines the purposes for which specific forms of violence and particular emotional states functioned how they operated in relation to each other or indeed how one provoked sustained or diminished the other These twelve original essays demonstrate the complexities of violence and emotions and the myriad possibilities of their inter relationships They emphasize the great efforts that were made by early modern societies to control modes of violence and emotional regimes to achieve positive as well as negative effects such as creating order healing and bringing individuals and communities together around productive identities Authors consider legal documents news reports memoirs letters confraternity statutes and medical consultations to investigate the bodily and textual practices in which violent and emotional acts were created supported and disseminated to investigate the power aims effect and outcomes of relationships between violence and emotions The chapters look at a range of topics and countries including Renaissance Italy and sixteenth century Germany France in the grip of the religious wars and England s Civil Wars as well as a wide range of topics including murder punishment community healing insults threats prophecy and medical and devotional practices This collection will be essential reading for students and scholars of the history of emotions or violence The Civilizing Process, V.1 : the History of Manners Norbert Elias,1978 The Civilizing Process in America Stephen Mennell,2007
