The Afterimage Poems:

The Afterimage Phillis Levin, 1995 Poetry In the elegant formulations of her second collection THE AFTERIMAGE Phillis Levin explores the gaps and forges the links between language thought and matter She is an alchemist of the vernacular whose clarities are hard won and whose mindfulness is lit by a passionate flame She has written a glowing book Edward Hirsch

Afterimage Benjamin Vogt, 2012 Afterimage moves from the southern to northern Plains and the eastern Midwest where the natural world calls out through deep lakes and dark woods and finally through transient moments framed by gardens a butterfly nectaring on a coneflower planting lavender with his future wife or autumn leaves crashing against a morning window In a rich array of forms and evocative imagery the poems in Afterimage reach through prairie history until grass becomes skin and light becomes shadow

Afterimage Sharon Burtner, 2015-03-21

Afterimages Cathryn Hankla, 1991-11-01 Afterimages is a journey of the eye what the eye observes and what the eye cannot forget Cathryn Hankla writes the world I inhabit is a visual question marked by a balancing line of light on distant water a mirror horizon These poems balance the death of family members against the monologue of a woman who comes to life under the coroner's knife Memories of a life saving class counterbalance the image of drowned lovers in the film Women in Love Photography painting and film all figure as arts that the mind uses to transcend loss and that the memory uses as aids to preserve the lost Hankla's eye for detail soft down between the shoulder blades of a young cousin silvery waves in the hair of two aunts remembering their flapper days and displaying the braids they bobbed is as immediate as a touch on the shoulder and as fascinating as light flickering on a movie screen There is no such thing as perfect communication as our train whistles north through fields of broken pines that my eyes climb branch after broken branch to their needled widow's walks I look out over this landscape panning through the movie it becomes and my mind wanders until I see more clearly than ever before your faces Each window frames a changing composition sometimes my own face that registers only as afterimage Hankla's poems are a changing composition of the dead and the living of black and white challenged by the light falling on peach plum and green apple in a Vermeer painting Ultimately these poems offer us in the poet's words courage not to save our best for bitter ends and strength to repeat that this earth wouldn't have us forget

Afterimage Len Krisak, 2014 Afterimage by Len Krisak is a masterfully crafted collection of poems in which we see the persistence of history into the present the ancient market under the polish of urban architecture the thrum of Roman crowds amid present day Boston Horace and Ovid exist alongside Jeopardy and Clark Kent Whether in a grand public mode or quietly elegiac and personal the poems record our contemporary life often noting the images from such a distant and literary past strikingly alive in the present From the topless towers of Troy to the trolley's stair step lip Krisak writes with a metrical and formal eloquence His voice is both learned and colloquial demonstrating a careful attention to language and its power to move us

Afterimage Benjamin Vogt, 2009 Rimbaud's Impressionist Poetics Aimée Israel-Pelletier, 2012-10-15 In the mid nineteenth century Arthur Rimbaud the volatile genius of French poetry invented a language that captured the energy and visual complexity of the modern world This book explores some of the technical aspects of this language in relation to the new techniques brought forth by the Impressionist painters such as Monet Morisot and Pissarro The Dark Afterimage : a Selection of Poems Taskans, Andris, 1977 Media, Technology, and Literature in the Nineteenth Century Margaret Linley, 2016-04-29 Operating at the intersection where new technology meets literature this collection discovers the relationship among image sound and touch in the long nineteenth century The chapters speak to the special mixed media properties of literature while exploring the important interconnections of science technology and art at the historical moment when media was being theorized debated and scrutinized Each chapter focuses on a specific visual acoustic or haptic dimension of media while also calling attention to the relationships among the three Famous works such as Wordsworth's I wandered lonely as a cloud and Shelley's Frankenstein are discussed alongside a range of lesser known literary scientific and pornographic writings Topics include the development of a print culture for the visually impaired the relationship between photography and narrative the kaleidoscope and modern urban experience Christmas gift books poetry painting and music as remediated forms the interface among the piano telegraph and typewriter Ernst Heinrich Weber's model of rationalized tactility and how the shift from visual to auditory telegraphic instruments amplified anxieties about the place of women in nineteenth century information networks Full of surprising insights and connections the collection offers new impetus for stimulating historical conversations and debates about nineteenth century media while also contributing fresh perspectives on new media and re mediation today Afterimage Damon Krukowski, 2011 Poetry Illustrated with photographs by Naomi Yang AFTERIMAGE is the testimonial of a survivor's son A hybrid work part treatise part memoir part lyric the text thinks through a problem prompted by confusions between the author's imagination and his father's history Do we only tell each other's stories Ask others to tell our own Can we tell our own Or is that what stories are for to tell someone else's and allow another to tell yours The Essentials of Aesthetics in Music, Poetry, Painting, Sculpture and Architecture George Lansing Raymond, 1909 The Essentials of Aesthetics in Music, Poetry, Painting, Sculpture and Architecture George Lansing Raymond, 1911 Poetry, 1929 Seeing Double Françoise Meltzer, 2011-05-01 The poet Charles Baudelaire 1821 1867 has been labeled the very icon of modernity the scribe of the modern city and an observer of an emerging capitalist culture Seeing Double reconsiders this iconic literary figure and his fraught relationship with the nineteenth century world by examining the way in which he viewed the increasing dominance of modern life In doing so it revises some of our most common assumptions about the unresolved tensions that emerged in Baudelaire's writing during a time of political and social upheaval Fran oise Meltzer argues that Baudelaire did not simply describe the contradictions of modernity instead his work embodied and recorded them leaving them unresolved and often less than comprehensible Baudelaire's penchant for looking simultaneously backward to an idealized past and forward to an anxious future while suspending the tension between them is part of what Meltzer calls his double vision a way of seeing that produces encounters that are doomed to fail poems that can't advance and communications that always seem to falter In looking again at the poet and his work Seeing Double helps to us to understand the prodigious transformations at stake in the writing of modern life Shakespeare's Poems William Shakespeare,1927 Afterimage Kathryn Weld,2023-09 Tuned with awareness keen enough to hear a sibilance from flexing steel the poems in Afterimage move from acute perception to the spaces between thoughts They pause to notice both presence and absence from weeds in the garden to the suspended interval that acts as a comma between thunder clauses Written under the sign of winter familiar with landscapes of ice dormancy and loss these poems offer warmth recognition and solace nonetheless They are poised and intricate attentive to the ways the mind makes decoupage ballerina oilrig trout Moonlight on these canyon walls Weld's crystalline and deftly measured lines move through fields of memory and grief a youth recalled a family's dwellings a mother's death and they find in these recollections not only the vulnerability and fallibility of human experience but a rich capacity for intimacies with other people with growing things with light itself B K Fischer Kathryn Weld's Afterimage dwells in elegy and often in the sweetly and sadly elegiac moments when loss is seen felt and anticipated but not yet realized and in dealing with parental dementia the poet confronts the loss before the loss Often set against a lovingly observed Adirondack landscape these clear-eyed meditations on loss are both heartbreaking and reassuring as they embrace their necessary heartbreak What stays A girl's finger tracing her mother's mouth Andrew Hudgins Kathryn Weld is a serious and singular poet Her lush language is matched by the profundity of her observations Simone Weil said Attention taken to its highest degree is the same thing as prayer Although both Weld a mathematician by profession and her poems are secular her fierce and unrelenting attention to both the beauty and brutality of daily life including caring for an ailing mother take on an almost religious significance in the care and grace that she bestows upon them Weld's polished voice has a conviction that is rare to find in a full length debut collection This is a collection of poems that shows us without being preachy or didactic how living on earth is a peculiar blessing Jennifer Franklin If Some God Shakes Your House Four Way Books 2023 Metaphor in Metaphysical and Romantic Lyric Poetry Beth Marlene Goldman,1980
