Writing Womens History:

Writing Women's History Karen M. Offen, Ruth Roach Pierson, Jane Rendall, 1991-08-23 Five essays address such themes as the relationship between feminist history and women's history the use of the concept of experience the development of the history of gender demographic history and women's history and the importance of post structuralism to women's history

Writing Women's History Since the Renaissance Mary Spongberg, 2017-03-08 The complaint of Catherine Morland in Jane Austen's Northanger Abbey that history has hardly any women at all is not an uncommon one Yet there is evidence to suggest that women have engaged in historical writing since ancient times This study traces the history of women's historical writing reclaiming the lives of individual women historians recovering women's historical writings from the past and focusing on how gender has shaped the genre of history Mary Spongberg brings together for the first time an extensive survey of the progress of women's historical writing from the Renaissance to the present demonstrating the continuities between women's historical writings in the past and the development of a distinctly woman centred historiography Writing Women's History since the Renaissance also examines the relationship between women's history and the development of feminist consciousness suggesting that the study of history has alerted women to their unequal status and enabled them to use history to achieve women's rights Whether feminist or anti feminist women who have had their historical writings published have served as role models for women seeking a voice in the public sphere and have been instrumental in encouraging the growth of a feminist discourse

Writing Women's Lives Susan Corey, Jonathan Boe, Marsha Markman, 1999-08-03 This volume presents a collection of primary sources consisting of diaries and letters written by women themselves The intimacy of such materials reveals attitudes feelings and perspectives that would seldom find expression in more public documents Included here are entries from early colonial settlement through recent times plantation owners and slaves Native Americans indentured servants women in the military and on the home front immigrants and westward migrants and women on the frontier of equal rights

Companion to Women's Historical Writing M. Spongberg, A. Curthoys, B. Caine, 2016-04-30 This A-Z reference work provides the first comprehensive reference guide to the wide range of historical writing with which women have been involved particularly since the Renaissance The Companion covers biographical writing travelogue and historical fictions broadening the concept of history to include the forms of writing with which women have historically engaged The focus is on women writing in English internationally but historical and historiographical traditions from beyond the English speaking world are also examined Brief biographies of individual writers are included

Writing Women's History Elizabeth Anne Payne, 2013 Essays on how women's history is written in the wake of The Southern Lady Contributions from Laura F Edwards Crystal Feimster Glenda E Gilmore Jacquelyn Dowd Hall Darlene Clark Hine Mary Kelley Markeeva Morgan Anne Firor Scott Laurel Thatcher Ulrich and Deborah Gray White Anne Firor Scott's The Southern Lady From Pedestal to Politics 1830-1930

stirred a keen interest among historians in both the approach and message of her book Using women s diaries letters and other personal documents Scott brought to life southern women as wives and mothers as members of their communities and churches and as sometimes sassy but rarely passive agents She brilliantly demonstrated that the familiar dichotomies of the personal versus the public the private versus the civic which had dominated traditional scholarship about men could not be made to fit women s lives In doing so she helped to open up vast terrains of women s experiences for historical scholarship This volume based on papers presented at the University of Mississippi s annual Chancellor Porter L Fortune Symposium in Southern History brings together essays by scholars at the forefront of contemporary scholarship on American women s history Each regards The Southern Lady as having shaped her historical perspective and inspired her choice of topics in important ways These essays together demonstrate that the power of imagination and scholarly courage manifested in Scott s and other early American women historians work has blossomed into a gracious plentitude Elizabeth Anne Payne Oxford Mississippi is professor of history at the University of Mississippi She is the author of Reform Labor and Feminism Margaret Dreier Robins and the Women s Trade Union League and coeditor of vols I and II of Mississippi Women Their Histories Their Lives

Writing Gender History Laura Lee Downs,2010 How has feminist scholarship changed history Writing Gender History explores the evolution of historical writing about women and gender from the 1930s until the early twenty first century With chapters on the history of Europe the USA colonial India and Africa the disucssion moves from women s history to gender history and then to poststructuralist challenges to that history This revised edition includes an exciting new chapter looking at recent scholarship on race gender and sexuality in colonial and transnational history and on the history of the body Highly accessibly but also encouraging new debate this book provides students with a comprehensive understanding of gender history as well as its possible future Reviews of the first edition Ingenuity and perspicuity shine through Laura Lee Downs superb distillation and analysis of women s and gender history To understand accomplishments and changes in the field put this book at the top of your list Nancy F Cott Professor of American History Harvard University Puts the entire range of women s and gender history into context showing how it challenges the conventional pieties opens up new veins of research and transforms our understanding of every aspect of history Her command of the literature is simply astounding Sure to be seen as a landmark in the development of the field of history in the broadest sense Lynn Hunt Professor of Modern European History UCLA

Making Women's Histories Pamela Susan Nadell,Kate Haulman,2013 Making Women s Histories showcases the transformations that the intellectual and political production of womenOCOs history has engendered across time and space It considers the difference womenOCOs and gender history has made to and within national fields of study and to what extent the wider historiography has integrated this new knowledge What are the accomplishments of womenOCOs and gender history What are its shortcomings What is its future a The contributors discuss their discovery of womenOCOs histories the multiple turns the field has taken and how place affected the course of this scholarship Noted scholars of womenOCOs and gender history they stand atop such historiographically defined vantage points as Tsarist Russia the British Empire in Egypt and India Qing dynasty China and the U S roiling through the 1960s From these and other peaks they gaze out at the world around them surveying trajectories in the creation of womenOCOs histories in recent and distant pasts and envisioning their futures Writing Women's History Michelle Perrot,2002

Writing Women's Literary History Margaret J. M. Ezell,1996-11-08 Ezell critically examines these successful women s literary histories and applies to them the same self conscious feminism that critics have applied to more traditional methods Drawing both on French feminisms and on recent historicist scholarship Ezell points us to new possibilities for the recovery of early modern women s literary history By championing the recovery of lost women writers and insisting on reevaluating the past women s studies and feminist theory have effected dramatic changes in the ways English literary history is written and taught In Writing Women's Literary History Margaret Ezell critically examines these successful women s literary histories and applies to them the same self conscious feminism that critics have applied to more traditional methods According to Ezell by relying not only on past male scholarship but also on inherited notions of tradition some feminist historicists replicate the evolutionary narrative model of history that originally marginalized women who wrote before 1700 Drawing both on French feminisms and on recent historicist scholarship Ezell points us to new possibilities for the recovery of early modern women s literary history Writing Women's History Michelle Perrot,1992-01-01 Liberating Women's History Berenice A. Carroll,1976 Papers furnishing a review and critique of past work in women s history are combined with selections delineating new approaches to the study of women in history and empirical studies considering ideological and class factors Journal of Women's History ,2004 Writing Women Back Into History Pennsylvania. Retrieving Women's History S. J. Kleinberg,1992-08-26 Edited by S Jay Kleinberg this volume investigates the role played by women in ancient more recent and contemporary history and demonstrates that taking into account the activities of women radically alters the perspectives of historians Irish Women's History Alan Hayes,Diane Urquhart,2004 This book is a collection of new research relating to Irish women s history It is presented in sections on the themes of work religion political participation and gendered representations These themes cover a wide diversity of female experience and are written in a clear concise style to make them accessible to both the academic and popular reader The book represents the largest time scale in Irish women s history to date ranging from the 6th to 20th centuries Contributors are from Ireland the UK the US Australia and Russia and represent both academic and independent research Contributors include well known academics from the fields of women s history women s studies as well as scholars who are at the beginning of their careers

U.S. History As Women's History Linda K. Kerber,Alice Kessler-Harris,Kathryn Kish Sklar,2000-11-09 This outstanding

collection of fifteen original essays represents innovative work by some of the most influential scholars in the field of women's history. Covering a broad sweep of history from colonial to contemporary times and ranging over the fields of legal, social, political, and cultural history, this book according to its editors intrudes into regions of the American historical narrative from which women have been excluded or in which gender relations were not thought to play a part. The book is dedicated to pioneering women's historian Gerda Lerner whose work inspired so many of the contributors and it includes a bibliography of her works. The contributors include Linda K. Kerber on women and the obligations of citizenship; Kathryn Kish Sklar on two political cultures in the Progressive Era; Linda Gordon on women, maternalism, and welfare in the twentieth century; Alice Kessler Harris on the Social Security Amendments of 1939; Nancy F. Cott on marriage and the public order in the late nineteenth century; Nell Irvin Painter on soul murder as a legacy of slavery; Judith Walzer Leavitt on Typhoid Mary and early twentieth century public health; Estelle B. Freedman on women's institutions and the career of Miriam Van Waters; William H. Chafe on how the personal translates into the political in the careers of Eleanor Roosevelt and Allard Lowenstein; Jane Sherron De Hart on women, politics, and power in the contemporary United States; Barbara Sicherman on reading Little Women; Joyce Antler on the Emma Lazarus Federation's efforts to promulgate women's history; Amy Swerdlow on Left feminist peace politics in the cold war; Ruth Rosen on the origins of contemporary American feminism among daughters of the fifties; Darlene Clark Hine on the making of Black Women in America. An Historical Encyclopedia

Women's History in Global Perspective Bonnie G. Smith, 2004. The American Historical Association's Committee on Women Historians commissioned some of the pioneering figures in women's history to prepare essays in their respective areas of expertise. These volumes, the second and third in a series of three, complete their collected efforts. The first volume of the series dealt with the broad themes necessary to understanding women's history around the world. As a counterpoint, volume 2 is concerned with issues that have shaped the history of women in particular places and during particular eras. It examines women in ancient civilizations including women in China, Japan, and Korea; women and gender in South and South East Asia; Medieval women; women and gender in Colonial Latin America; and the history of women in the US to 1865. Authors included are Sarah Hughes and Brady Hughes; Susan Mann; Barbara N. Ramusack; Judith M. Bennett; Ann Twinam; and Kathleen Brown. As with volume 2, volume 3 also discusses current trends in gender and women's history from a regional perspective. It includes essays on sub-Saharan Africa, the Middle East, early and modern Europe, Russian and the Soviet Union, Latin American, and North America after 1865. Asuncion Lavrin; Ellen Dubois; and Judith P. Zinsser writing with Bonnie S. Anderson. Incorporating essays from top scholars ranging over an abundance of regions, dates, and methodologies, the three volumes of Women's History in Global Perspective constitute an invaluable resource for anyone interested in a comprehensive overview on the latest in feminist scholarship. Bonnie G. Smith is the Board of Governors Professor of History and director of the Institute for Research on Women at Rutgers University. She is the author of Confessions of a Concierge, Madame Lucie's
