The Academic Kitchen:

The Academic Kitchen Director and Assoc Professor Cirge Assoc Dean Graduate School Maresi Nerad, Maresi Nerad, 1999-01-01 Presents a social history of gender stratification at the University of California at Berkeley through a combination of organizational theory and biography The Acrobatic Muse Richard Kendall Munkittrick, 1897 American Higher Education John R. Thelin, 2022-12-13 The latest book in the Core Concepts in Higher Education series brings to life issues of governance organization teaching and learning student life faculty finances college sports public policy fundraising and innovations in higher education today Written by renowned author John R Thelin each chapter bridges research theory and practice and discusses a range of institutions including the often overlooked for profits community colleges and minority serving institutions In the book's second edition Thelin analyzes growing trends in American higher education over the last five years shedding light on the effects of the COVID 19 pandemic He covers reconsideration of the rights of student athletes provides fresh analysis of the brick and mortar campus and includes a new chapter exploring school admissions recruitment and retention Rich end of chapter Additional Readings and Questions for Discussion help engage students in critical thinking A blend of stories and analysis this book challenges present and future higher education practitioners to be informed and active participants capable of improving their institutions Shared Knowledge, Shared Power Veysel Apaydin, 2017-11-20 This volume brings together the experiences and research of heritage practitioners archaeologists and educators to explore new and unique approaches to heritage studies The last several decades have witnessed a rapid increase in the field of cultural heritage studies worldwide This increase in the number of studies and in interest by the public as well as academics has effected substantial change in the understanding of heritage and approaches to heritage studies This change has also impacted the perception of communities how to study and protect the physical residues of heritage and how to share the knowledge of heritage It has brought the issue of who has knowledge and how the value of heritage can be shared more effectively with communities who then ascribe meaning and value to heritage materials Heritage studies until a few decades ago exclusively studied the material culture of the past as part of elitist approaches that completely neglected communities rights to knowledge of their own heritage Additionally heritage practitioners and archaeologists neither shared this knowledge nor engaged with communities about their heritage Communities were also mostly deprived from contributing to heritage and archaeological studies This kind of top down approach was quite common in many parts of the world But recent studies and research in the field have shown the importance of including the public in projects and that sharing the knowledge produced through heritage studies and archaeological works is significant for the protection and preservation of heritage materials it has finally been understood that excluding the public from heritage is not ethical This publication presents a wide array of case studies with different approaches and methods from many parts of the world to answer these questions Outsiders Or Equals? Tanya Fitzgerald, 2009 Shortlisted for the Anne Bloomfield Prize 2010 Across the ninety years of its history the University of New Zealand 1871 1961 appointed four women professors to the academic staff From the outset while the woman professor was an insider to the Academy based on her qualifications and professional credentials on the basis of her gender she was a relative outsider to this deeply patriarchal institution Accordingly academic women and in particular this first generation of women professors were officially invisible both to their male colleagues and to the institution This is not to suggest that the presence of a woman professor was unproblematic or that she sat easily on the margins of men s scholarly worlds This book traces the personal and professional histories of each woman professor and examines their contribution to the expansion of higher education for women On the basis of extensive archival research in New Zealand England and the United States the author uses Bourdieu s notions of habitus field and capital to analyse this intellectual community of women and the professionalisation of academic work The book rehabilitates the woman professor from the margins of historical scholarship and offers an insight into a forgotten aspect of the history of women s higher education the history of women and the professoriate

Historical Portraits of Women Home Scientists , The Survey ,1930 Food Stories T. Jameson Brewer,Cleveland Hayes,2025-02-05 Food Stories Navigating the Academy with Cultural Lessons from the Kitchen is the first volume in the series Culinary Canvas A Series on Integrating the Arts and Food into Higher Education The purpose of the series is to explore the innovative integration of arts and food into higher education Each volume aims to inspire a paradigm shift in academia advocating for a more holistic creative and inclusive approach to learning teaching researching serving and existing in the academy In the present volume Food Stories makes the case that food and the culture surrounding food is a closely held and powerful reality that shapes who we are as individuals as members of varied communities and invariably informs who we are as educators and researchers This book gives space for the authors to explore not only the impact that food and culture have had and continue to have on them as individuals how that culture and experiences impact them as members of the academy in teaching research and service but also in providing some guidance to graduate students and junior faculty In effect chapters explore navigating academic work teaching research and service through the lens of food and the transferable lessons that can be gleaned from our grandmothers mothers fathers and our own kitchens It is often the case that higher education fosters both imposter syndrome and a workaholic disposition that can be detrimental to teaching and research What this book does then is to not only explore the ways in which what may seem as non academic work such as cooking a meal can have on our work life balance but also how to incorporate the very lessons of food into who we are as educators how we teach and how we can approach the work we do more broadly Through carefully curated chapters this text presents a wide array of perspectives across food and cultural regions as well as imparting insights from the academy from authors spanning the spectrum of the career It is an important book full of valuable lessons for graduate students faculty and teachers who wish to use its content in their classrooms Perfect for courses such as Cultural Studies Culturally Responsive Pedagogy
